ACKNOWLEDGEMENT FOR ADVANCED DIRECTIVES

PLEASE COMPLETE THIS FORM IN FULL. PRINT CLEARLY AND CAREFULLY

Every competent adult has the right to make decisions concerning his or her own health, including the right to choose or refuse medical treatment. When a person becomes unable to make decisions due to a physical or mental change, such as being in a coma or developing dementia (like Alzheimer’s disease), they are considered incapacitated. To make sure that an incapacitated person’s decisions about their health care will still be respected, Advance Directives were created. These directives outline in writing your wishes regarding future medical treatment. Without any written instructions from you, your family and physicians would have to guess what treatment you would want. In some cases, they may be forced to proceed with treatments they know you would not desire simply because your preference was not expressed in writing. There are several types of advance directives:

Living Will: It is a written statement of the kind of medical care you want or do not want if you become unable to make your own decisions.

Health Care Surrogate: This document names another person as your representative to make medical decisions for you if you are unable to make them yourself. You can include instructions about any treatment you want or do not want, similar to a living will.

Anatomical donor form: It is a document that indicates your wish to donate, at death, all or part of your body. You can indicate your choice to be an organ donor by designating it on your driver’s license or state identification card, signing a uniform donor form, or expressing your wish in a living will.

DNR form: This is a yellow form that identifies people who do not wish to be resuscitated in the event that they stop breathing or their heart stops beating.

The Advance Directives come into effect only if you become incapacitated and you can change it at any time. As long as you are capable, you should discuss your expectations for future medical care with your physician. However, before you fill out the Advance Directives you may also want to talk to your family, friends, lawyer, or spiritual advisor.

No Show Policy

Dear Patient,

This policy has been established to help us serve you better.

It is necessary for us to make appointments in order to see our patients as efficiently as possible. No-shows cause problems that go beyond a financial impact on our practice. When an appointment is made, it takes an available time slot away from another patient. No-shows delay the delivery of health care to other patients, some who are quite ill.

A “no-show” is missing a scheduled appointment or not contacting us to cancel 24 hours in advance of an office visit.

We understand that situations such as medical emergencies occasionally arise when an appointment cannot be kept and adequate notice is not possible. These situations will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

A charge of $25.00 will be assessed for each no-show office visit appointment if less than 24 hours' notice is given.

Please understand that insurance companies consider this charge to be entirely patient’s responsibility.

ePrescribing is a federally mandated initiative that requires all physicians to prescribe medications electronically beginning in 2011.

Prescribing software sends your prescriptions over the internet to your pharmacy in a safe, secure way through the same technology used by credit card companies. I understand that prescription history from multiple other unaffiliated medical providers, insurance companies, and pharmacy benefit managers may be viewable by my providers and staff here, and it may include prescriptions back in time for several years.
